Revival at Hebron Church

Rev. Cecil H .Franks

The Rev. Cecil H. Franks will be the guest preacher at a revival to be held at the Hebron Baptist Church from August 6 to August 10, beginning each night at 7:45.

Rev. Franks is pastor of the Lee Boulevard Baptist Church in the Washington, D. C. area. This church is one of the fastest growing churches in Virginia. Last year 205 members were added to the church. Rev. Franks is an outstanding evangelist and returns to Hebron for the second consecutive year.

A children's' period will be a special feature of the revival. The children will sit together each night and hear a "sermonette" by the pastor, the Rev. G. Edward Hughes.

The congregational singing will be under the direction of Mr. O. E. Turnes. The public is cordially invited to attend the services.

REVIVAL MEETING AT LIBERTY BAPTIST

Dr. Henry Turlington

At Liberty Baptist Church, Appomattox, special revival services will begin August 6. The evangelistic for these meetings will be Dr. Henry Turlington, professor of New Testament at the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, Ky. The services will begin at 8:00 P. M. each evening throughout the week.

These meetings will have an appeal for every person in the community. Also there will be many problems, both on a local, national and international scale, all people should attend every service in the worship of God and their effort to bring their lives into accord with the teachings of Christ. Attendance upon these services will help one do these things. An open invitation is extended to everyone in the Appomattox community to attend these meetings.

Few Hours Spent Cleaning Farm Pays Big Dividends

Spring is clean-up time—time to clean out the hazards around the farm which can cause personal injury, loss of time, or loss by fire.

And although many rural communities have already conducted clean-up campaigns, a few hours now and then spent in putting things ship-shape may save many days of time during the busy season later on. It is a well-known fact that orderly farms and homes have fewer accidents.

It will pay every farmer to take a few hours and remove accumulated papers, rags and rubbish from the home and farm buildings. Be sure that medicines, poisons and insecticides are out of the reach of children.

At this time of year many barns are still cluttered with an accumulation of things used during the winter. Clear them out of alley-ways or working areas so they can not cause accidents. A neat place is a safe place for either work or play.

Clean Paint Job

For the housewife who wants to paint her flower pots before resetting plants, here is an easy, clean way to get the job done. Invert the pot over a milk bottle and as you work, turn the bottle and you won't have to touch the painted pot at all. Leave it until it's thoroughly dry.

4-H Clubs in Minnesota To Stress Food Projects

Some 49,200 4-H club members in Minnesota will be emphasizing three major food-producing projects this year—field crops, garden and poultry. They are among nearly two million youths throughout the nation who will be doing their part in the mobilization program by participating in 4-H club activities.

In these projects 4-H boys and girls learn new agricultural techniques and farming practices.

Ever see a monument to a peach? There's one in Spartanburg, S. C. It is a handsome marble shaft, topped by an enormous peach carved from stone. The inscription: "This monument is erected out of respect for the peach, delectable fruit of a friendly soil and a beneficent clime. Upon a pedestal we place it as a symbol of God's bounty and man's enterprise. Spartansburg County has the honor of the richest peach harvest in the nation, and we are grateful for this favor." (The words from "Transgar"—interesting monthly publication of Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corporation).

Question: Nearly a million Americans a year visit the famous home of Washington— how did Mount Vernon get its name? The name of the home was built by George Washington, half brother of Lawrence had served in the Navy prior to the Revolutionary War and named his home after a naval officer, Admiral Vernon.

Here is also an interesting story about Kings Head, N. C. got its name. So sure that is our turn to tell on the radio Friday at 1:45 on the Country Editor program.

Care Of Farm Machinery Is Important Now

Farm machinery supplies are ample to meet current needs, according to E. R. Gowin, chairman of the County Agricultural Mobilization Committee. But the situation could easily reverse itself, he added. Therefore, he advised local farmers to keep their machinery and equipment in shape to meet high-geared defense production.

"The nation's present mobilization effort will run only as smoothly as the machinery behind it," Mr. Gowin said. "To meet the defense needs for agricultural production farmers must get the most of their machines and equipment. And that means to keep it in repair, cut down wear in operation, and share its use with other farmers."

Gowin said that the state agricultural committee receiving reports from counties on the supply situation, has not indicated any shortage of farm machinery or equipment at the present time.

But he said every day or year a farmer adds to the operating life of his tractor or other equipment will forestall the day of shortages just that much.

Farmers have been called upon to boost this yeas's agricultural output over that of any previous year, the chairman noted. "Yet virtually no additional land can be brought into production," he added, "and manpower may be scarcer than before."

During the past 10 years farmers have stepped up sharply their shift from human and animal power. There are more than twice as many tractors on farms today as a few years back, and the use of such labor-saving devices as corn-pickers, combines and milking machines has about tripled.

With the reservoir of mechanical power, American agricultural is in better shape to produce than it was at the outbreak of the last war. But as machinery makes farmers better equipped for high-geared production, farmers are most dependent on machinery. Without machinery many farmers could not operate.

FARM FIRE CAUTION

Too few farmers provide enough protection against fire. The Extension Division says since most farmers can't count on prompt arrival of a fire truck, they should do their best to prevent fires and have facilities to qht those which break out.

Fires usually can be checked if they are caught and properly fought within the first three to five minutes. Have full water barrels spotted at convenient locations, especially near hay or straw. Prohibit smoking in barns where they is hay, straw, or similar dry matter. If kerosene lanterns are used in the barn, hang them up and be sure that they do not drip.

Keep a 50 to 100 foot rubber hose attachable to a screw outlet available around the house and barn. Also have a ladder handy in case of fire. These are the help knows where these items are kept.

BURLEY MEETINGS PLANNED NEXT WEEK

Southwest Virginia's burley tobacco growers will have a chance to inspect demonstration plots of four varieties being tried on farms this year, and to hear discussions on various phases of the tobacco business, at four field meetings next week.

The field days will be held Tuesday, August 13 on the Addington farm in Scott County and on the Coomer farm in Lee; and August 15 in Wise County.

County Vets In From Korea

Three Appomattox veterans have come in from service in Korea. Cpl. Eggie H. Almond, Route 3, is home on 30-day leave after combat service in Korea. Cpl. Curtis T. Mayberry, Route 3, and PFC John W. Torrence arrived this week. These veterans have long combat service in Korea and are back in the States under the Army's new rotation plan. They landed in Seattle, Washington August 2 and made a quick dash for "home sweet home." They merit a royal welcome!

PRIMING TOBACCO INCREASES YIELDS

If you prime burley tobacco properly, you can count on yield increases of as much as 400 pounds per acre.

G. R. Mathews, associate agronomist at V. P. I., says that priming (removing leaves from the standing stalk), if done the right way is the answer to the often-asked question, "What can be done if the bottom leaves are burning badly when the rest of the plant is still immature?"

Most growers, when this happens, cut the tobacco, —all of it, and get six to eight excellent leaves per plant, four to six leaves of passable quality, and six to eight immature leaves hardly worth marketing. Mathews says that if instead of cutting, the growers would go through the field and pick off two to five bottom leaves per plant, and wait to cut until the middle and upper leaves are mature, they will get 16 to 20 good to choice peaves per plant.

Priming may be done any time after the bottom leaves or flyings mature and begin to yellow thoroughly or burn at the tips. To get the greatest number of leaves in the best possible condition, prime them before they are badly burnt.

Local Legion Explains Status Building Fund

C. T. Moses, Jr., Past Commander of the local American Legion Post, today issued the following statement:

"To the citizens of Appomattox County:

"American Legion Post 104, Appomattox County, had a special call meeting on Monday evening, August 6th. It was decided at this meeting that the Legion wanted to publicly explain the embarrassing situation in which it has been placed.

"Approximately 32 years ago the first American Legion Post was first organized and it was not too many years after that Post 104 was organized in Appomattox. Upon organization of this Post, the 'Old Timers' started to branch out and try to help the Veterans and families in any and every way they could. For a period of approximately 30 years, the fellows struggled along without a place to call home. Finally a, February of 1949, after borrowing and begging every dollar we could scrape, we dedicated a home to my comrades, your fathers, sons, husbands and daughters.

"When each Legionnaire is sworn in he takes an oath that he will foster and perpetuate 100% Americanism. I am sure that all of you good citizens realize that your fathers, sons and husbands did not mean any harm when they voted at a special meeting, to give the good people of this community a chance to donate toward the building fund and in turn give a car to the holder of the lucky ticket. The Legionnaires realized that it was rather a borderline case as far as the law went. But on the other hand we did not feel that we were committing a crime or hurting anyone in any shape, form or fashion.

"After selling quite a few tickets, we were informed that there was objection to what we were doing. It was then that the Legion voted to drop the solicitation.

"At the present time Post 104 owes a deef of trust of approximately $4,000 on its home.

"We, the Legionnaires of Post 104, your fathers, sons and husbands are turning to you, the good citizens of Appomattox County, and asking that you help us in paying off the indebtedness against our home. All contributions, whether large or small, will be greatly appreciated and long remembered. Please make all checks payable to B. H. Guill, Adjutant, American Legion, address Appomattox, Va.

"Our home is available for use by other organizations or groups, and arrangements for its use can be made through the Adjutant. I extend to each and every citizen of Appomattox County a cordial invitation to visit us in our new home.

Sincerely,
C. T. Moses, Jr.,
Past Commander,

Death of Mrs. Almond

Mrs. Wilhelmina Almond, 85, died at her home here after an illness of nine years. Born in Appomattox County June 13, 1865, she was a daughter of William and Catherine Morris and lived her long and useful life in this county. She was a member of the New Hope Baptist Church.

Survivors include the following children: H. C. Almond, of Spout Spring; J. P. and W. W. Almond, of Appomattox; I. O. Almond, of Raleigh, N. C.; Mrs. G. B. Farrar, of Lynchburg; Mrs. L. S. McCormick, of Appomattox, and Mrs. J. W. Roberts, of Concord Depot. She also leaves 61 grandchildren and a number of great grandchildren.

Graveside services were held at 4 P. M. Saturday at the O'Brien cemetery. Active pallbearers were Twyman Almond, (Dick) Albert Martin, Dyer Almond, Julian Farrar, Charlie Almond and Bennie McCormick.

FRUIT GROWERS TOLD TO USE SPRAYS

Virginia orchardists can up their profits this year by applying "stop drop" sprays to keep apples on the trees until the fruit reaches a good-sized, well-colored maturity.

A. H. Teske, VPI horticulturist, says a new material is on the market this year which has the advantage of improving apple color to a greater extent than any of the other stop-drop sprays. It is available under only one trade name—Color-Set - 1004. Teske says it is effective on all important varieties for a 30- to - 45 day period. It should be applied in early September on varieties which will be ready for harvest in late September and early October.

Another spray, Naptalene acetic acid, available under several trade names, can be applied when the first droppings take place, or about eight or ten days before picking is scheduled to start.

Incumbents Win Election Contests Here

Incumbents won renomination in primary elections Tuesday in Appomattox County. Closest contest of the three local races developed in Clover Hill District, where F. A. O'Brien won for supervisor over Harry A. Williams by the scant margin of 19 votes. Williams carried Pamplin, Rocks and Walkers Church precincts but O'Brien found his winning margn in Clover Hill precinct. This turned out to be the closest race for many years in this county.

For county sheriff, David T. Robertson defeated C. Vernall Mitchell with a total of 1,196 to 561. Robertson, the incumbent, was appointed to serve out the term of the late H. W. McKinney and won in his bid for a full term. The margin between the two was consistent over the entire county, although Mitchell won 278 votes at the big Court House precinct to Robertson's 413.

In the Southside District, F. L. Murphy won nomination for a full term as supervisor over Courtney C. Harvey. Murphy was appointed to serve out the term of the late L. Crawle/, and was chairman of the county board. Harvey carried the two small district precincts, but lost at the Court House precinct, where the vote was Murphy 507, Harvey 176.

The total county vote of 1757 was about in line with advance predictions.

The electoral board meets today to make an official canvass of the votes. The returns herein published are unofficial.
